

WOMAN IN CREEK DECLARED SLAIN

Coroner's Jury to Render Murder Verdict on Miss Garrett, Swarthmore Victim.

PHILADELPHIA, May 11.—Miss Anna C. Garrett, of Swarthmore, whose body was found in Brandywine creek, near Kennett square, by fishermen about the middle of April, was murdered, according to Coroner Patrick, of Chester county. He says the jury, which will meet tonight, will bring in that finding.

District Attorney Taylor, of Delaware county, held a conference relative to the case yesterday afternoon with District Attorney Windle, of Chester county, in the latter's office at West Chester. County Detective O'Toole accompanied Mr. Taylor.

The Delaware county prosecutor would not discuss his visit, except to admit it concerned the Garrett case. He said he felt he could not talk in advance of the inquest.

The coroner's jury has been doing some investigating on its own account in advance of the inquest, it was learned yesterday afternoon.

One of the witnesses who, it is rumored, says he has "considerable information," will be Albert M. Garrett, a cousin of Miss Garrett. It is estimated the jurors have formed the opinion death took place elsewhere than in the vicinity of the place where the body was found and that it was carried there and thrown in the creek.

A rumor preceding the inquest is that the body may be exhumed so that a more exhaustive examination can be made to search for marks of violence.

Coroner Patrick said: "Our investigation shows that Miss Garrett was seen to leave a car on the Media short line at Chester road at 5:30 o'clock on the afternoon of April 1. Two weeks later her dead body was found in a creek twelve miles away in a spot almost inaccessible. We have interviewed every one possible in connection with the case and have succeeded in getting several additional witnesses, who will be called upon to testify at the inquest tonight."

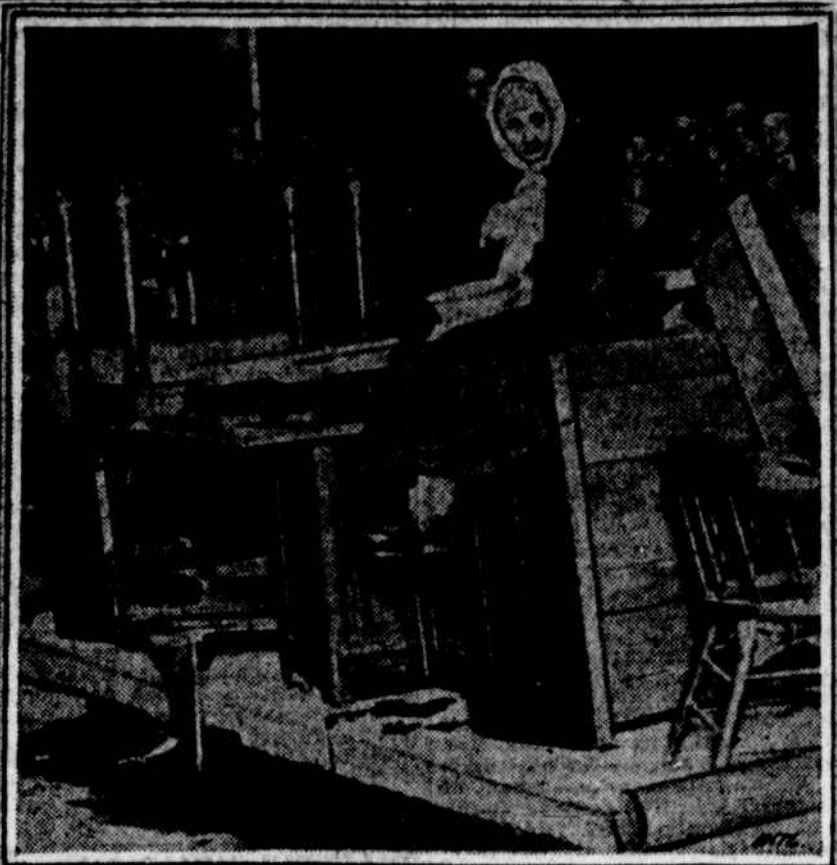

CUMBERLAND POLICE HEAD DIES AT 64

CUMBERLAND, Md., May 11.—Police and Fire Commissioner Theodore A. K. Hummelshime died suddenly Tuesday, aged sixty-four. He had been suffering from creeping paralysis, and lately had to be carried to the council chamber to attend meetings. He was serving his second term. Dr. Hummelshime was a dentist by profession and practiced for many years. He had long been active in Republican politics.

Dr. Hummelshime is survived by his wife, a niece of the late Alexander McCleure, the noted Philadelphia editor, and two sons, H. Brewster Hummelshime, an attorney, and Dr. Russell M. Hummelshime, a dentist. Commissioner Hummelshime belonged to several fraternal orders, including the Eagles. He was a native of Cumberland. Succeeded his father, the late Dr. L. K. Hummelshime, in the dental business.

Dr. Hummelshime came into prominence some time ago when he instructed the city police department to make no arrests for violations of the Volstead act.

UNABLE to pay an increase of $15 a month for her shabby seven-room apartment, Mrs. Mary Simpson, seventy-three years old, of Chicago, promised to move in a month. Searching continuously for a month she finally found a place on Van Buren street. She hurried home to prepare for the migration and found her household effects on the sidewalk. She sought a moving van, only to find the cost beyond her means. Neighbors raised the necessary funds. But by that time the moving men had quit for the day. At midnight she was keeping vigil over her property.

BANKERS DISCUSS COTTON CREDITS

Offer of War Finance Board to Cash Futures, Topic of Conference.

NEW YORK, May 10.—A plan to make effective the offer of the war finance corporation to make advances on cotton under war contract for export in future months was discussed at a committee of the Southern Bankers and Cotton Exporters with Eugene Meyer, Jr., managing director of the war finance corporation, and Director A. W. McLean, it was announced today.

The opinion was expressed that under the proposed arrangements considerable advances to exporters or banks that are financing exporters would be made available from the war finance corporation, which, in turn, would result in relief to Southern cotton spot markets and Southern banking institutions.

The question of sales on credit to European countries, in order that they may be able to purchase additional amounts of American products over and above what they are now able to buy for cash, also was discussed.

SURGEONS DISCUSS WORK FOR WOUNDED

Dr. Martin Decries "Practice" Upon Patients—No Excuse for Incompetency Now.

Work among the wounded soldiers and standardization of hospitals throughout the country will be discussed today at the convention of the American College of Surgeons.

Yesterday the Maryland and District of Columbia section held its clinical congress at Baltimore. The delegates returned to this city last night to attend today's sessions of the convention.

At the Baltimore meeting, Dr. Franklin H. Martin, of Chicago, declared that no physician in this day should be allowed to learn surgery by practicing on his patients. With modern hospitals and present day methods, he said, the medical profession has no right to shut its eyes upon incompetency in surgery.

Hippocrates, who lived about the fifteenth century B. C., in answer to the question why he was always happy said these words: "Love of my fellows and love my job."

MISS ROBERTSON IS PARK VIEW SPEAKER

Vital Need of Today Arousing of Individual Conscience, Says Congresswoman.

Congresswoman Alice Robertson, of Oklahoma, and Congressman M. Clyde Kelly, of Pennsylvania, were speakers at a joint meeting of the Park View Citizens' Association and Community Center last night in the Park View School.

Election of community center officers resulted as follows: President, George H. Russell; vice president, Charles W. Gilmore; treasurer, A. B. Clarke; secretary, Miss Frances S. Fairley. The three men hold the same posts in the citizens' association.

Congressman Kelly, in introducing Miss Robertson, spoke of her as "the representative of all women in America."

Miss Robertson highly lauded the community organization plan, stating that she had made every effort to secure more complete association along this line in her home district.

She discussed briefly the condition of the country today, and declared the thing most needed at the present time is "the arousing of the individual conscience."

During the balloting for officers a flashlight picture was taken of the gathering, which included about 400 residents of the Park View section.

A number of resolutions were adopted by the citizens' association, one endorsing the $5,000,000 program in place of the $2,000,000 emergency plan now before Congress.

A resolution opposing opening of a pool-room in the community was adopted. Protest was made against inadequate lighting of Georgia avenue.

John S. Beach, chairman of the education committee, announced his intention of appointing during the coming week a large education committee, with Miss Fairley, who is principal of the Park View School, as vice chairman, in an effort to boost the $5,000,000 program.

Robert Lawrence, organizing director of Washington's Music Week, made his first local appearance in Washington at this meeting, leading the community singing.

BUGLE CORPS APPEARS.

The bugle and drum corps of the Park View Boy Scout troop played a group of bugle and trumpet tunes and a number of the boys gave individual army bugle calls. The association appropriated $25 for the purchase of a new bass drum for the organization.

"The Park View Boys' Baseball Club, the only community organization of its kind in the District, made its appearance on the platform, the members in their new club uniforms. A large framed photograph of the team was presented to Miss Fairley for display in the school.

A resolution calling for the appropriation from the community funds of $200 for the purchase of material to change the floor plan in the auditorium of the school, the work to be performed by members of the association, was referred to the executive committee.
